DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of species Group I in the reply filed on February 27, 2006 is acknowledged.

2. Claims 4, 5, 7 and 8 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on February 27, 2006.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The recitation, "wherein an interior surface of the upper cap includes a protrusion" is unclear in view of the disclosure with respect to the elected species. As shown in Figure 4, the elected species does not appear to include what one would reasonable consider a "protrusion" on an interior surface of the upper cap (126). Only the exterior surface of the inner cylindrical tube (124) appears to include a protrusion (136). Does claim 3 read on a non-elected species?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Waldrum, USPN 3,229,913.

Waldrum shows a fluid delivery device, comprising: an inner cylindrical tube (20) having a top opening and a bottom opening (see Figures 2, 5 and 7; and column 2, line 45); and an upper cap (18, 58) overlying a top portion of the inner cylindrical tube, the upper cap being moveably disposed over the inner cylindrical tube (see column 2, lines 52-57), the upper cap having a top (58) with a plurality of holes (84) defined therein, the top having a sidewall extending therefrom, and the top being substantially flat (see Figures 5 and 7).

7. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Waldrum.

Waldrum shows all of the recited limitations of claim 1, and further, though Waldrum is silent as to the diameter of each of the plurality of holes, the actual diameter of each hole shown by Waldrum would likely fall within the broadly recited diameter range of claim 6 or, in the alternative, it is old and well known in the art to form specific outlet hole diameters of a spray device based on the intended use of the device. For example, it may be more desirable for the holes to have smaller diameters when using the device to spray a liquid having a low viscosity.

As is also well known in the art, the dimensions of the outlet holes also influence the outlet fluid pressure and the outlet spray pattern of the device, and as such, would be selected by the user having a specific result in mind. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have formed each of the plurality of holes shown by Waldrum, having a diameter within the recited range, since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233 (CCPA 1955)

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claim 9 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. US Patents to Mimasaka et al., Yonemizu et al., Maekawa et al., Sumnitsch, Kwag et al., Wong, Itzkowitz, and Shibagaki, are cited as of interest.
